

Alois K.F. PUTZER
putzer@kip.uni-heidelberg.de

Dr. Alois K.F. Putzer (*1945) is professor of experimental physics at the University of Heidelberg, Germany. His main areas of activity are the analysis of particle physics experiments and scientific computing. As chairman of the ATLAS National Computing Board he is responsible for the organization of the worldwide computing of the ATLAS experiment at the LHC collider and is involved in various computing Grid activities.