

Grid Application for Belle Experiment

Kenji INAMI

kenji@hepl.phys.nagoya-u.ac.jp

Nagoya University

I will present about an application of Grid software for the Belle experiment briefly. We are trying to use LCG (LHC computing grid) and SRB (Storage resource broker) with our analysis program in order to share easily the enormous data among the institutes joining Belle collaboration. I will show the status and plan.